

Pilkington Activ Self Cleaning Glass Now Available At Trade Price Conservatories

Trade Price Conservatories announce the availability of Pilkington Activ self cleaning glass on all DIY conservatories available online.

July 25th 2008 – Bournemouth, UK – Trade Price Conservatories have announced the availability of Pilkington Activ self cleaning glass throughout their conservatory product range.

Pilkington Activ, the World's first self cleaning glass uses the forces of nature to maintain its clear appearance without leaving unsightly streaks. In a dual-action process organic dirt is broken down by daylight and is then washed away by rain, thus making it environmentally friendly and very easy to maintain.

The benefits of self-cleaning glass are numerous. If you clean your own windows you will save time and energy as cleaning windows will be a thing of the past; if you currently employ a window cleaner, you'll save money to spend on things you really enjoy.

Managing director Karl commented "I'm very pleased to announce the availability of Pilkington Activ glass in our range of conservatories. I have this glass throughout my own home and I haven't had to clean them since the day it was installed, it gives me more time to do other things."
